EDUCATION WEEK IN CHICAGO

The Educational Gatherings in Chicago the week of July 7-11, 1919, will include some of the most important conferences in the field of religious education which have occurred for several years. Problems of reconstruction are at hand such as educational leaders have never before faced. Decisions which must be made now will largely determine the trend of college and church interests for a decade to come.

The preliminary program of meetings of the various conferences is presented here with the understanding that a few minor changes and additions may be made later. In general, it will be noted that the sessions of the Council of Church Boards of Education will occupy the two days, Wednesday and Thursday, January 7th and 8th. The Association of American Colleges convenes on the evening of Thursday, January 9th, and continues through Saturday. This leaves the morning and afternoon of January 9th exclusively for denominational gatherings. The meetings of the Council of Church Boards are all scheduled for the Ball Room, Hotel La Salle, and almost all of the denominational group meetings will be held at the same hotel. All of the sessions of the Association of American Colleges will be found at the Congress Hotel, with the exception of the banquet Thursday evening at the University Club.
